

WE NOMINATE

Charles Phelps Smyth, eminent man of science and a resident of Princeton for over a half-century, who has been named David B. Jones Professor of Chemistry in Princeton University, succeeding recently retired Hugh Stott Taylor, the first scientist to hold the Jones chair. Currently trout-fishing in northern Montana, Smyth, a son of the distinguished Princeton geologist and the brother of the author of "The Official Report on the Development of the Atomic Bomb," is one of the few civilians upon whom a grateful U.S. Government has bestowed the Medal of Freedom for "meritorious service" overseas.

It was 11 years ago that Smyth, now 63, received by direction of the President the Medal of Freedom as a member of the Alsos Mission, the scientific intelligence unit which functioned behind Nazi lines during the closing stages of World War II. This unusual cloak-and-dagger outfit made important discoveries concerning Germany's progress with the atomic bomb and succeeded in capturing the head of the German Research Council with all of his papers. Smyth's perseverance and initiative were "vital factors in the accomplishment of the assigned task."

Soft-spoken, and oblivious of the honors he has earned over the years, Smyth is internationally known as a specialist in molecular structure and is a member of the National Academy of Sciences and the American Philosophical Society. Yet, when interviewed on the eve of his departure for Montana and shortly after he had been advanced to the Jones Professorship, he relished recalling how he had been anonymously honored by the Chamber of Commerce of Great Falls, Montana. His picture, in the act of "landing a good-sized trout," had appeared without identification on a booklet designed for the "tourist trade."

A native of Clinton, N. Y., Smyth "grew up" in Princeton. He attended the Lawrenceville School and as a member of the Princeton Class of 1916 was among the first group of Princeton students elected to Phi Beta Kappa membership at the end of junior year. He took his Princeton master's degree in 1917 before heading a research unit on poison gas for the Chemical Warfare Service during World War I. Following the Armistice, he qualified for his Harvard doctorate and joined the University's Department of Chemistry in 1920.

In 1954 Smyth, author of standard works in his fields of special interest and of some 200 articles in scientific journals, carried off a top honor in American chemistry—the Nichols Medal of the American Chemical Society for his outstanding contributions in probing the secrets of the structure of molecules by using powerful radio and radar beams. Among his research undertakings have been high-priority projects for both the Navy and Air Force and a recently announced two-year laboratory venture under the auspices of the National Science Foundation.

For filling the bill spelled out by the deed of gift for the Jones Professorship, "a creative scientist of high distinction;" for strengthening a family scientific tradition without parallel in this community's long history; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

News Of The THEATRES

IN THE SWIM

More "in" All the Time. The private swimming pool, once considered the sacred toy of western women of wealth who could enjoy it almost 12 months a year, has come of age in Princeton, where swimming conditions can hardly be described as ideal much of the time. In mid-summer, 1958, Princetonians boast an estimated 150 of the private jobs, or roughly one to every 400 families, and the total is going up at a steady clip.

Walter B. Jefferson Jr. of the Princeton Water Company shed some light on the pool growth picture this week by noting that modern circulators make it possible to use the same water throughout the summer, thus cutting costs sharply. Today's pool-cleaning methods are economical, too. The fact that Princeton now has no public pool(s) at its disposal is reasonable for part of the trend, not to mention the appeal of private facilities as opposed to a hot ride to the oft-crowded seashore.

Scanning his records, Township Clerk Joseph R. Nini said building permits for 45 private pools were obtained from 1954 to 1957.

"We must have at least a hundred," he reasoned, adding the pre-1954 total, this year's healthy crop and throwing in the few for which permits were never retained. Borough records reflect that 23 pool permits were issued from July, 1953, to July, 1958, on the Borough total at present is probably no greater than 50.

As a direct result of the increased interest in private pools and the promise of many more in the future, Borough Council recently passed an ordinance requiring safety fencing around all pools in the municipality. The Borough wading pools already had such fences, but the only practical citizens to contact Borough Hall regarding the ordinance's exact requirements since its passage were Mayor Male and Mrs. Meyner Engineer Russell Riker, comparing the long known case of interest with the known number of Borough pools, posed a logical question:
"Who's supposed to enforce the ordinance?"

In the Township, which is bound to add pools faster than the Borough because the average lot is larger, Mr. Nini observed that the Committee considered a pool-fencing ordinance three or four years ago, but drowned the idea when only a half-dozen citizens turned out for a public hearing on it. "We're not interested in such an ordinance this year either," he went on, "but the Committee is studying the matter carefully and it will probably be an important subject by next spring."

GO EAST, YOUNG MEN

So Councilmen Try It. Pending vacations, tough weather conditions and other complications notwithstanding, Borough Council is keeping up with its promises this week and doing its damdest to wipe out a year-around bugaboo, the parking problem. Mayor Male and his colleagues will meet at 8
Thursday evening with property owners in the Vandeventer-Plum Place-Moore block, then will study the Skirm property at 253 Nassau Street early Friday morning before a 9:30 a.m. session with all interested residents in Bar-ough Hall.

The Thursday night meeting, of course, will serve as a follow-up to the informal get-together involving Councilmen and a majority of Vandeventer-to-Moore businessmen two weeks ago. At that time, the merchants voiced a strong appeal for reconsideration of "interior" parking development in the area. Now, the city fathers will try to find out if the large block's land holders are still opposed to such development, as they were not so very long ago.

Mayor Male's contingent will invade the Skirm premises with a number of pertinent figures in mind, principally that Chestnut Street-to-Murray Place theoretically has 42 too few off-street parking spaces and that Borough installation of a 60-70 car lot on the Skirm property would cost more than $100,000. The first figure is based on a ratio of 1 square foot of parking space to each square foot of gross business floor space (there are 30,000 square feet of said floor space in the Chestnut-Murray strip). The second figure is based on the asking price for the Skirm property, plus the going rate for parking lot construction.

Needless to note, the Councilmen will have a great deal to think about in considering the east side story. For one thing, it would be time for traffic if parking could be eliminated from the south side of Nassau in the Chestnut-Murray section—necessitating that many more off-street spaces, to be sure. It also might be a smart idea, as suggested by J. Russell Riker, Borough engineer, for Council to chance the little-used meters on Olden Street to all-day parking. Indeed, there are numerous possibilities and a number of "ifs"—and it will be interesting to see what progress is made by week's end.

AROUND TOWN: Despite the fact that they have proved successful in cities with congested downtown areas, "wait-walk" crossing signals apparently are not destined for near-future use in Princeton . . . the Borough Safety Committee met to discuss the situation last week with the State Highway Department's engineer on traffic, who took a dim view of the proposed safety signals . . . he asked the Borough representatives to wait until the start of school to count the number of students walking across the Nassau-Harrison intersection, one spot where the signal now is believed to be urgently needed . . . in response to a plea from Ernest D. D'Andrea, of 28 Hillside Drive, water will flow once more from the fountain on Nassau Street across from Veidt's . . . the First National Bank and the Princeton Water Company have donated $25 each to pay for the landmark's revival.

HUNTING, FIREARMS OUT?

Township Sets Public Meeting. Mayor Charles A. Hurford climaxed Monday evening's lengthy, fairly routine Township Committee meeting with a fitting attention-claimer, the long-awaited date of a public meeting on a suggested municipal ordinance to restrict hunting and/or the discharging of firearms in the Township. The session will be held at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 29, in Township Hall.

Stressing that the Committee is anxious to hear all pros and cons in order to form ideas regarding the controversial proposal, Mayor Hurford urged all interested persons to attend the mid-summer gathering. Clerk Joseph P. Nim predicted a standing room only crowd for the fact-finding meeting, despite the time of year and the likelihood of humid conditions. He added that the Committee must start forming an opinion well before the advent of this fall's hunting season.

While in the session-setting mood, the Township leaders called for a public hearing on four assessment matters for 8:30 p.m. August 11, the hour and date for their regular monthly meeting. Property owners will have an opportunity to contest total costs to be levied against their holdings as a result of recent Board of Assessors action. Involved will be properties concerned with the completion of Guyot Avenue, curbing of Mt. Lucas Road between Jefferson and Ewing Streets, paving of Hillside Drive and construction of the new Mountain Avenue sewer.

Avid Committee-watcher Henry J. Frank, 225 Jefferson Road, absent or silent for several months, swung back into action solidly Monday evening. He complained about interstate buses using Val-

"THE HEAT'S ON, BROTHER: This wading pool is only big enough for two and you're on the way out." But it takes a pair of water pistols to make it stick. ley Road as a Princeton shortcut, urged the municipality to move the Valley-Jefferson intersection's mailbox further north on Jefferson (it now hides the speed zone sign, according to Mr. Frank) and said a general Township clean-up of existing right-of-ways rather than installation of sidewalks will help solve pedestrian traffic hazards such as exist along Valley.

According to Mr. Nim, the bus problem—perhaps unique here—has been taken before the New Jersey League of Municipalities for positive action, and it will be pushed to a satisfactory conclusion. Mayor Hurford asked Township Engineer Calvin O. Schofield to prepare a detailed survey of overgrowth conditions at key corners and on major roads, indicating interest in Mr. Frank's right-of-way thoughts. On the delayed subject of sidewalks for Valley, Committee member Stanley C. Smoyer reported that Governor Meyner is expected to sign bill A-39, which would enable the municipality to contribute up to 50 percent of the $12,900 estimated costs.

Appeals Presented, Nixed. The Township Committee heard two appeals based on recent Planning Board decisions, then affirmed the Planning Board's action in each case after affording each matter executive session consideration. Denied flatly was a request by the Institute for Advanced Study that it be permitted to install bituminous concrete curbing in its new subdivision of Mercer Road instead of standard concrete curbs—a substitution which would have saved $3,500 and a certain amount of construction time. Placed in the "reserved decision" drawer was a request by A. R. Silverster that he be allowed to establish a minor subdivision between State and Mt. Lucas Roads—a request the Planning Board turned down because Mr. Silverster could show no frontage on any existing street and because adjoining property owners were not notified of his proposal.

Regarding other matters of moment Monday, the Committee:

● Sympathized with Cuyot Avenue residents whose 21 children under the age of 12 are subject to various dangers during Princeton High's home football and baseball games, assuring the residents that their request for anti-speeding police protection during games and sign protection always will be given serious consideration and advising them to take their "foul ball" complaints to the Borough Board of Education.

● Took under advisement a Trinity Church request for municipal construction of a road from Snowden Lane north to the church's property in the northeast section of the Township—

It was a good week for letting in the breezes, too—although it had heretofore reached the point where the trapeze-chessmen look had won anything like 100% male approval. If the neck shape stilled the wind whistle, so what? Some days it was too hot to breathe, let alone whistle.

More of the same, the Man said slyly. Thursday would be better, he remarked, what with a Canadian high reducing the steamy southwestern air that has been causing all the trouble, but it wasn't expected to linger. By Friday afternoon, normal temperatures would be replaced again by 65-85 degree weather for the weekend.

WET FIGURES

'58 Rainfall Already Tops '57. Ten days after it was a mere six months old, 1958 had earned the dubious distinction of pouring more water on the Township than previous years which had experienced in all of 1957. Actually, the distinction is not wholly of a dubious nature, since a severe drought was afflicting the community a year ago. Nonetheless, as showers and cloudbursts played tag across the weather map—accompanied by traditionally high July humidity—the ability to keep dry was little more than a memory.

In Trenton, the U.S. Weather Bureau reports that a six-month precipitation total exceeding that of the entire previous year has never occurred before in our history. Figures show that 1957 brought only 28.79 inches, whereas the rain that continued to drench this area on Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday (measurable totals ranging from 15 to 30 each day) sent 1958's total to just under 30 inches.

As is also customary during July, temperatures varied by as much as 30 degrees over a seven-day period, reaching a low (dubious) last Thursday of 57 and a high (every day but one last week) in the 80's. Eighty-seven was top.

As to the immediate future, Weather Bureau records point in somewhat conflicting directions. One would indicate that considerably more heat is in store, since each year averages eight days with the thermometer at 90—and 1958 so far has touched that figure on only three occasions. The other trend—pleasant, or to contemplate—is that August almost invariably is cooler than July.

FESTIVAL CHAIRMEN NAMED

Miss Fine's Committee Chairman, Committee chairmen have been named for the Festival of the Arts to be held in October for the benefit of the Miss Fine's School Scholarship Fund. The Festival will be held October 25 in the gymnasium.

Mrs. Augustus K. Mills will be general chairman. Other committee chairmen are: Mrs. Peter G. Cook and Mrs. Gilbert Lea, art; Mrs. Malcolm Muir, Jr., stagecraft; Mrs. Raymond H. Carter, publicity; Mrs. A. C. Smith, III, preview; Mrs. Percy H. Clark, reception; Mrs. B. F. Bonner, Christmas decorations; Mrs. Frank J. Clark, Jr., dried flowers; Mrs. Peter Marmon, decorative accessories; Mrs. John O'Hara and Mrs. William Lippincott, children's william.

The Festival will be held in order to exhibit and sell paintings, watercolor, prints, sculpture and fine decorative arts. Sales will be on a commission basis and the money will go for scholarships. In addition to the fine art works on sale, the Festival will feature portrait photography by Morris Dallet of New York, decorative art work by Mrs. Mitchell Diehlman of Princeton and glass sculpture and wood carvings. Philip Jameson of West Chester, Pennsylvania, will take orders for water colors of homes. Paintings will come from artists in New York, New England, Philadelphia and the Delaware Valley. An out-of-town story will make selections of the best in art work.

LEGION POST TO INSTALL

Ceremony to Be Held Outdoors. American Legion Post 76 and Unit 76 of the Women's Auxiliary will hold a joint installation of officers Wednesday at 8 p.m. at post headquarters, 55 Mercer Street. The new officers have been elected for the term 1958-59.

Alex Czerbazyk, Mercer County Commander, will conduct the installation of officers that will be held outdoors, weather permitting. Norman Fowler of 41 Moran Avenue will succeed Robert Schmidt of 40 Cedar Lane as commander of Post 76.

Other department and county officials will be present, including Warren Davies, deputy commander. All members of Post are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served.

SCHOOL-ADDITION PLANNED

Plainsboro Proposes Extension. Residents of Plainsboro Township will meet on September 11 with members of the Board of Education to hear about plans for an addition to the Plainsboro Township School. A vote on the proposed bond issue is set for September 18. The plans have already received the approval of the state Commissioner of Education.

Plainsboro needs new facilities because pupil enrollment has increased from 156 in 1953 to 186 for 1957-58 and a census and conservative estimate of new pupils indicates that there will be close to 200 by 1962-63.

The Board of Education of the Borough of Princeton has notified Plainsboro that its seventh and eighth grade pupils must be withdrawn from Quarry Street School by September, 1960, because Princeton needs the space. Also, three Plainsboro classrooms, considered substandard, have been used on a temporary permission basis.

New Plans. According to present plans, the new building will have five classrooms, one kindergarten, multipurpose room, science, toilet rooms (replacing obsolete facilities in the present school), medical office, shower rooms and office space.

The heating unit for both the present building and the addition will be housed in the new building. Present plumbing and ventilating systems, regarded as being top standard when the present school was built in 1919, are now inadequate and will be replaced.

The auditorium in the old school was divided a few years ago to take care of the kindergarten class, so the school has had no place for assemblies. The new multipurpose room will take care of school programs in the future, and the old auditorium will be used for a cafeteria. Plainsboro has never had cafeteria facilities before.

FIREMEN PLAN OUTING

Hook & Ladder Event Saturday. The annual outing staged by Princeton Hook and Ladder Co. will take place all day Saturday at the Squatters' Grove on Quaker —Continued on Page 9

Mrs. Augustus K. Mills will be general chairman. Other committee chairmen are: Mrs. Peter G. Cook and Mrs. Gilbert Lea, art; Mrs. Malcolm Muir, Jr., stagecraft; Mrs. Raymond H. Carter, publicity; Mrs. A. C. Smith, III, preview; Mrs. Percy H. Clark, reception; Mrs. B. F. Bonner, Christmas decorations; Mrs. Frank J. Clark, Jr., dried flowers; Mrs. Peter Marmon, decorative accessories; Mrs. John O'Hara and Mrs. William Lippincott, children's william.

The Festival will be held in order to exhibit and sell paintings,

MUSIC CIRCUS

"Auntie Mame" Begins Run. Starring Sylvia Sidney in the title role, "Auntie Mame" opened at the Lamberville Music Circus Tuesday. The comedy-smash by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee will continue for three weeks at the mountain-top tent, through August 3.

Though not a musical, "Auntie Mame" has been one of the greatest comedy successes on Broadway in recent years. The leading role of the fabulous madcap is a switch for Miss Sidney who is known to audiences for her star performances in "Crossroads," "The Bad Girl," "Angel Street" and other classic dramatic parts.

Here, she is taking on one of Broadway's most hilarious and unconventional roles.

On the screen, Miss Sidney has played leading parts in a long list of films including "An American Tragedy" and "The Wagons Roll at Night." Television audiences have seen her recently on "Philco Playhouse," "Kraft Theatre" and "Climax," where she co-starred in the Emmy-winning "Helen Morgan Story."

Appearing with Miss Sidney in leading roles are Mark O'Daniels, Phil Arthur, Shannon Dean and Betty Sinclair. Mr. O'Daniels, who plays the role of Beau, has co-starred in numerous Hollywood films opposite Katherine Grayson, June Lockhart and Ann Sothern.

Special Children's Show Planned. Special matinees for "Auntie Mame" have been scheduled for Thursdays at 2:40 p.m. and Saturdays at 5 p.m. for the entire run of the show. In addition, a special children's showing — Continued on Page 6

TAVERN TO REMEMBER
"FORGOTTEN PEASERS"

George Washko, Manager of the Nassau Tavern Hotel, has announced a summer plan which will provide some degree of solace for the forgotten fathers of Princeton.

No longer will it be necessary for Dad to suffer him- self, in solitary confinement, while the family is away for the summer.

The Tavern has inaugurated a "Summer Bachelors Club" which will provide the plush luxury of resort hotel living at special reduced rates.

Features available to "Summer Bachelors Club" members will include a reserved Club Room for relaxation, refreshment and recreation; free movies; swimming; golf privileges; and breakfast in bed. Reservations can be made for any period of time from a few days to the entire summer. However, the "Bachelors Club" will definitely terminate on September 1st, to avoid the possible temptation on the part of any "Summer Bachelor" to make this a permanent arrangement.

For rates and reservations call Mr. George Washko at Walnut 1-7500, the Nassau Tavern Hotel, on Palmer Square, 1401st.

LIGHT HEARTED COMEDY: Ingrid Bergman and Cary Grant provide summer laughter in "Indiscreet." A lively piece opening a week's run at the Playhouse Sunday.

of "Pinocchio" will be presented at the Music Circus next Saturday at 11 a.m. "Pinocchio" is the enchanting story of Geppetto, the carpenter who carves the little wooden boy that comes to life. The Lambertville production has a full company of professional actors and dancers including Betsy Drew in the title role of the wooden boy with the long nose.

THE PLAYHOUSE

God's Little Acre (July 17-19) Is the best-selling Erskine Caldwell book transplanted to the screen and retaining much of the novel's strong portrayal of a family gone wrong. The setting is primarily the deteriorating mansion of a Georgia family whose lives are a harsh mixture of unfulfilled dreams and the sordid reality of poverty.

A lust for gold believed to be buried nearby is the driving force behind Robert Ryan as the head of the family, while love of another man's woman and the petty hatreds caused by continuing dissatisfaction with life are other basic emotions guiding the story to its conclusion. The effect is anything but pretty, yet the atmosphere of accurate portrayal cannot be denied.

In addition to Ryan, the principals include Aldo Ray, Buddy Hackett (who provides welcome comic relief) and Tina Louise, the latter making her film debut. The Georgia mill town setting lends stark reality, and Caldwell's sense of sharp squall has been faithfully reproduced. Hardly entertaining in the primary sense of the word, but a picture that holds the attention throughout its 119 minutes.

Black Beauty (Sat., July 19 matinee) is provided by the Playhouse as a special offering to replace one showing of "God's Little Acre." The children's classic about a beloved horse and the humans whose lives it dominates is told in picturesque color on a wide vision screen. John Crawford, Kim Gibson, John Bryan and Diane Brewster head a cast in a picture tailor-made for the little people.

Indiscreet (July 20-26) features a fun story which slows down inevitably now and then, but despite these obvious deficiencies—the film is bound to do to the box office what the summer season is doing to local theatrometers. Ingrid Bergman and Cary Grant are the lead roles, so it matters little that the convoluted plot, such as it is, concerns a bored actress, an American banker and their romantic entanglements in London. The co-stars, handsomely presented in Technicolor, represent a sure-fire cinema combination. Actually, the screenplay by clever craftsman Norman Krasna (who lifted it from his own stage play, "Kind Sir") contains keen and witty dialogue and succeeds in maintaining a lively pace and a sprightly touch almost all the way. It is typical Krasna fare, an enjoyable comedy that remains gay and lighthearted from start to finish.

The big appeal of "Indiscreet," of course, is aimed at the feminine element, and especially the teenage share of that element, but there are laughs aplenty plus Miss Bergman—for the male animal. Those occasional slow-downs in story shouldn't bother anyone, since the pace is quickly regained in each instance and the overall impression is one of a light, lively and swiftly-flowing continuity.

LAWRENCE DRIVE-IN

The Bravados (July 17-22) is a treat for all Western fans, sparing little from budget to talent as it spins a tale of double-deadline, gun-play and romance in familiar fashion. The action is unusually well paced, while a good cast has a fine example set for it in the acting of Gregory Peck, Joan Collins plays opposite him in appealing fashion. Tons among the picture's pleasing characteristics is the photography of various settings in Mexico, strictly eye-filling and generally enhanced by Chemsascope and color. Sharing billboard honors with "The Bravados" is "The Black Tent" starring Anthony Steele (Mr. Diana Dors), a first-run color production.

Rock-A-Bye Baby (starts Wed., July 23) threatens to win no special awards or extra amount of reviewers' stars, though it is certain to please all Jerry Lewis fans, who may or may not be many in number "heavens." Written especially for Jerry, producer as well as star of this particular outing, the "VistaVision" Technicolor picture involves an inept, shy, small-town bachelor and a TV repairman who for years has been in love with a small-town girl (Marilyn Maxwell), now a glamorous Hollywood star. Aided by Baccanti, Reginald Gardner and Hans Conried, Jerry romps through a handful of conventional routines, some enlivened on the slapstick, some of the more subtle variety and still others a bit too familiar.

IT'S NEW To Us

WHO'S HOT?

Coolness From a Bottle. At the Thorne Pharmacy, the coolness comes, not only from the air-conditioning, but from the very sight of a counter loaded with refreshing colognes, light summer scents, dusting powders and spray mists to keep you cool.

Every cosmetic maker has a spread of summer wares. Tussy exhibits a $2 Cologne that's now $1, stick or cream deodorants at 50 cents for a $1 size, and hourglass bottles of "Contraband," "Overture," "Safari."

The cool sophistication of Yardley comes in a spray mist for summer-time. "L'Oranger," "B on d Street," "Red Roses," "April Violets," will keep you fresh as an English daisy. There are after-bath fresheners, colognes, astringents and a toilet water.

Matchabell "takes the sizzle out of summer" with "Summer Shower," a Cologne, spray mist, hair set. You know already about the deodorant stick with an inner core that checks perspiration, an outer core that stops odor. It's "Fact" and it costs $1.

Houbigant's "Chantilly" will keep you cool with toilet water and stick perfume for $2, hand lotion and toilet water for the same price. The Quelques Fleurs bargain is $1.50 for Refreshment and liquid cream deodorant—a $2 value if you add it up any time except summer. DuBarry gives you—well, not quite—a freshener and cleansing cream at $1 each. Ordinarily they would be $1.75 and $2.

Here's a new face on the Thorne counter. It's Danita by Dana, a line that includes Cologne, dusting powder, soap. The fragrance is a dry and summery one, rather like some citrus scent. And for those women whose skins are too sensitive for any standard commercial cosmetic, Thorne's now has Ar-Sk, hypo-allergenic cosmetics for touchy skins.

Pass Me the Hammock. Summer reading is traditionally done in a hammock, although we've known a few iconoclasts who read inside because air-conditioning makes the living-room cooler than the garden.

Wherever you read, the Princeton Book Mart has whatever you'll read. How about "The New Jersey Shore," by John T. Cunningham? His books on New Jersey are well-known and well-known and this one, copyrighted, by the way, will probably be in every beach house from Sandy Hook to Cape May. Rightly so, too. It is full of excellent photographs.

Leningrad's Hermitage has concealed for many years its matchless collection of modern paintings. Now, for some reason known only to the Russians, the paintings have been made available for reproduction and the collection of French art from the 16th century to the present, has now been published by Abrams. The text by Charles Sterling, curator of painting at the Louvre.

On To Bull Run!

Civil War buffs know that the battle of Bull Run was fought between July 20 and July 23. The occasion might well be commemorated this coming week by the purchase of that magnificent new "Official Atlas of the Civil War." It may cause a small Bull Run in your own family if somebody who is neutral in the War Between the States finds the check for $40 you have written to the Princeton Book Mart, but think what an investment you have made!

As you probably know already, if the Civil War is your hobby, this splendid volume contains over 1,000 maps showing, in great detail, the location of both Confederate and Union forces in every battle of the Civil War. The book is about 15 by 18 inches by two inches thick, splendidly produced with drawings, photographs and an introduction by Henry Steele Commager.

It will probably be a little heavy to hold in a hammock, but it is obviously an indispensable reference guide for anyone who is deeply interested in American history.

The Hermitage has other schools of art among its treasures and presumably these will be published at some future date. The present volume is $25.

UNESCO's latest volume on world art is concerned with early Russian icons. The reproductions maintain the same high standards of previous UNESCO volumes.

Well, cooking is an art, too, and the Book Mart would not have its visual art collections take precedence over any others. Here's a college of cook books, most of them designed for people who are going on vacation: "The Missouri Traveler Cook Book" explains itself and so does "The Art of Caribbean Cookery." Readers of the Ladies' Home Journal will recognize "What Cooks at Stillmeadow" because it comes from the Kitchen of Glady's Tubor (200 recipes here).

"Twelve Company Dinners, or The Well-Fed Guest Made Easy," has a lip-smacking sound about it, and "Season to Taste" is cryptic—Continued on Page 8

BAND CONCERT THURSDAY
"Chorus: All-hail" Featured.
The Princeton Community Band will give its second summer evening concert in front of Nassau Hall this Thursday at 7:30 p.m. The group is under the direction of Bruce McKinney of The Great Road, a Princeton University junior.

Highlighting the varied program of popular and classical music will be Howard Hanson's "Chorus: All-hail." Mr. Hanson, who in 1941 won a Pulitzer Prize for his Symphony No. 4, completed this chorale in 1951 and it was given its American premiere by the Marine Band at West Point. This was the first work composed by the Eastman School of Music director for a symphonic band.

Another selection on the program will be the "Prayer and Dream Fantasia" from Humperdink's opera "Hansel and Gretel." Also to be played is Grieg's "Peer Gynt Suite," arranged for band by Mayhew Lake.

Two other numbers that will be heard are "Thunder and Blazes," the famous Barnum and Bailey circus march, and selections from Richard Rogers' "The King and I." The band holds rehearsals Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 10 p.m. at Princeton High School. The public is invited to these rehearsals, as well as to the concert.

tie enough to lure any curious cook.

The Book Mart has a very useful little kit which you can use to rehabilitate those tattered paperback volumes. For 98 cents you get enough binding and glue to rebind two books and it's so easy that you can be as good as a thumbs craftsman and still do a good job. (We know one reader who, "I found his worn 'Crime and Punishment' and put his own name on the spine instead of Dostoyevsky's.)

Customers who stubbornly refuse to read may turn to some excellent jigsaw puzzles of 300, 500 and over 750 pieces each. Book Mart prices are $3.50, $5 and $8.50 respectively. These are wooden puzzles, finely made, with scenes and reproductions of paintings (probably from Hermitage).

The Turtle with Diamond Eyes.

He's a pincushion, really, like something from Queen Victoria's sewing basket, and he waits for you at the Betty Wright Shop, 344 Nassau. His body is gold and his back is blue velvet and he shakes his head and tail because they dangle from springs. Quite a boy.

He might rest on your desk next to a white and gold ball point pen, nestled in a baroque penholder of white and gold acrolly designs. The pen has a rose, a real artificial rose hanging archly from its top. This is obviously not the pen you use for writing checks to the plumber. Who you write to with it is your affair, but for goodness sake, be careful.

On that same desk you'll probably keep a three-inch oval picture frame standard, wrought ornately in gold. It supports a hinged open double frame, made to look like a locket.

Leaving front-frau behind, we come to something pleasantly practical, but quite frilly in its way. It's a laundry bag for hosiery and lingerie, made of sheer nylon flecked with peach-colored dots. It folds flat in a square, but opens like a lantern when you lift up its middle. Slip the slips into a slit in its side.

Everything folds into something small to accommodate the traveler. Here's a chapel veil, black or white, a mere circle of lace 10 inches across, that folds into a two-by-two inch case. For ladies who collect cathedrals.

A coat hanger, folded like a praying mantis, unfolds to reveal a brilliant clothes brush attached to the under side of each arm.

For summer dress, buy a white bulky orlon sweater with a little collar and three-quarter sleeves. Another (non-bulky) orlon is baby blue, and with a cable stitch.

A white satin, pearl embroidered evening bag is good in any season. There are many styles in the Betty Wright Shop, including spiral embroideries in pearls, sequins matched with pearls, a snap purse that encloses pearls and covers itself with white lace, a black pearl bag for sirens, with jet slivers to catch the eye and the light. Prices are $2.98 and up, but not far.

Spinning The Bottle

The high value placed on liquor licenses in Princeton was underscored this past week when one of the Borough's limited number of licenses—that belonging to O'Kane's liquor store, 224 Nassau Street—was sold from the auction block for a price in excess of $82,000. Top bidder in an exciting session involving local residents as well as out-of-townners was Stephen Eory (pronounced "erie") of New Brunswick, who is disposing of his grocery business there to enter the liquor business here.

The auction, conducted at the Nassau Tavern, was presided over by Roger J. O'Kane, who, with his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth O'Kane Clothier, has run the successful eat' in since the death of their mother, Mrs. Thomas R. O'Kane. The store, one of only four liquor concerns facing on Nassau, was founded by their late father.

According to the rules and regulations governing such a sale, Mr. Eory must clear up several legal technicalities before taking possession, probably about September 1. Foremost among these is approval of the person-to-person license transfer by Council, a matter which is expected to appear on the city fathers' August calendar.

PIONEER TO SPEAK

Kiwanians Plan Talk. A pioneer wireless operator, Edward G. Raser, will address the Princeton Kiwanis Club luncheon July 21 in the Senior Room of the Nassau Tavern. Mr. Raser, radio supervisor for the New Jersey State Police radio system, will discuss the subject "Amateur Radio Knows No Bounds."

The radio veteran, formerly an engineer for the Signal Corps Laboratories at Ft. Monmouth, boasts a record that dates back 50 years—to 1908—when he first started experimenting with detectors and wireless apparatus. He is one of the State's most active amateur wireless operators and has been on the air almost continuously since 1912.

DRAWS WORKHOUSE TERM

Jailed on Wife's Charge. In special court session Saturday morning, Magistrate Gerber sentenced John Rockefeller, 54, of Cherry Hill Road, to a 12-month term in the Mercer County Workhouse. The defendant, on a charge signed by his wife, had been found guilty of violating the disorderly persons statutes.

Tuesday evening, Magistrate Gerber imposed a $15 fine on Roosevelt Lockhart, 29, of 68 Birch Avenue. He was charged with driving a truck in a street closed to such vehicles.

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS

"Legend of Lovers". It must be extremely difficult to direct such a diverse company as the Players in Jean Anouilh's wordy drama of life and death. Mario Siletti, taking on his first directing assignment of the current season, does as well as he can, but the French playwright has saddled him and his cast with such verbiage that it's all he can do to come out alive.

Mr. Siletti is handicapped, not only by Mr. Anouilh, but by a company that includes professionals, semi-professionals and amateurs. He has Reuben Adv in the leading role, playing Orpheus with a halting delivery that occasionally sounds almost like recitation. He has a suave professional performance by John Karlen, dressed in the traditional opera cloak that Death always seems to wear, and he has a surprisingly good interpretation by Kathy Kelly of the tormented Eurydice whose "dress has too many finger-prints."

Jim Ambrosio, director of the last two productions, appears on

"Burnt Bed" Coming

Following this week's production of "Legend of Lovers," the University Players will present the American premiere of "The Burnt Flower Bed" by Ugo Betti, one of Italy's coming dramatists. The production will open Tuesday and run through Saturday, July 26, at Murray Theater.

A playwright whose work has been compared to that of Ibsen and Pirandello, Betti writes usually in a tragic vein. His works are often of the nature and he frequently concerns himself with the manifestations of wickedness.

"The Burnt Flower Bed" has a political theme. The play, described as tense and exciting, depicts the story of a young man's mysterious death. It is a serious drama, but written with a light touch. James Ambrosio will direct.

the other side of the footlights for the first time as a rough old man who believes in life. Frankie Toll and Joseph Bird, stars of the two other Players' productions, work even in supporting roles, but like everyone else in the cast, they are burdened with some preposterous situations. They have a middle-aged-lovers scene, heavy with recollected passion and so melodramatic that it drew a snicker or two from the first-night audience.

Anouilh's play does not, in fact, really come to life—except in the case of this re-telling of the Orpheus legend—to death, until the last part of the last act. At that point, the audience has been subjected, not only to words, words, words, but to some lyrics as "I feel as though I'd known you always," and to what must surely be the longest and most tedious love-scene in the modern theater.

In this production, perhaps the most outstanding feature is the sets and the lighting. Jerry Raibourn has created a turn of the century French restaurant and a sordid Marseilles hotel room with genuine skill. The lighting effects worked out by Art Wolff are dramatic and extremely important to the mood of the play.

Made for this production of "Legend of Lovers" was composed by Richard Cumming, student of Black, Schoenberg and Sessions. It is beyond the province of this review to pass judgment on the music, but it fits into the play unobtrusively and, along with the lighting, helps establish the mood. And after all, where would Orpheus be without music? Incidentally, although audiences probably realize that it is difficult to mount a production using amateur back-stage crews, it seems inexcusable that a first-night curtain should be 25 minutes late in two productions out of three.

BUCKS PLAYHOUSE

Stone in Chavsky Play. Ezra Stone, the famous Henry Aldrich of the radio series, plays a featured role in Fanny Chavsky's "Middle of the Night," which will continue at the Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope through July 26.

It is Mr. Stone's first stage appearance in eight years, following the resumption of a career that began with a part in the George M. Cohan production of "Ah, Wilderness" in the thirties. Following his role in the O'Neill play, Mr. Stone played in "Detective Rat" in 1933 and then in "What a Life," as the indelible Henry Aldrich.

For the past 12 years, Mr. Stone and his wife, Sara Seegar, (who also appears in "Middle of the Night") have been the co-owners of an Ayrshire dairy farm in Bucks County. In addition, Mr. Stone has been serving as program consultant for educational TV on station WHYY-TV, Philadelphia, and associate director of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts.

New Plates in March

Next March, automobile license plates that have been a Princeton orange and black since 1952 will be replaced by straw colored plates with black numerals. The new issue will be spread over a year from the time the distribution begins.

Instead of front and rear plates, New Jersey motorists will simply display one tag at the rear. The new plates will be aluminum rubber stamped, and, at present, three types of tags are being carried on New Jersey cars. The new system will eventually put a standard six by 12-inch plate on all vehicles registered in this State. The cost of issuing new plates has been put at $1,300,000.

REPUBLICANS TO MEET

Will Initiate Campaign. The Regular Republican Club of South Brunswick Township is scheduled to meet for Monday at 8:30 p.m. The affair will be held at the Monmouth Junction firehouse.

A special gathering, the meeting has been arranged to launch the campaign of Warren S. Parmenter for Township Committee. Mr. Parmenter will speak as will also Abraham Dolan, township committee chairman. Refreshments will be served.

SCHOLARSHIP TO VASSAR

Metuchen Girl is Honored. Mrs. Peter Lauck, III, chairman of the scholarship committee of the Vassar Club of Central New Jersey, has announced that the club's Alice Dunstan Baker Scholarship has been granted to Catherine L. Aubin. She is the daughter of Dr. Robert A. Aubin, professor of English at Rutgers University, and Mrs. Aubin.

A resident of Metuchen, she prepared for Vassar at Metuchen High School. Girls in the central New Jersey area are considered for the award.

Funds for the Vassar Club scholarship are raised by an annual dance held each October at Miss Fine's School Gymnasium. Mrs. James Shriver, III of 635 Snowden Lane, headed the 1957 dance committee while Mrs. Karl D. Pettit, Jr., of 81 Harriet Drive will be in charge of plans for the 1958 Autumn Dance. Mrs. Dean W. Meyerson of 149 Westcott Road continues as president of the club. Incoming officers include Mrs. De Witt C. Armstrong, vice-president, and Mrs. Frederick S. Gallagher, secretary. Mrs. Hector Griswold of 291 Russell Road will remain in office as treasurer.

"Y" PROGRAM VARIED

Baseball is Popular. While making preparations to move into the new "Y Center" on Avalon Place, the Princeton YMCA is also offering a varied program of summer activities. The program is under the direction of George Toole, of 455 Ewing Street.

Among the activities in the program for all ages are baseball, tennis, swimming and painting. One of the most popular diversions on the list has been baseball for boys between the ages of 9 and 12.

Since the "Y" sponsored Midget League ends early in the summer, special baseball games have been scheduled for Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 10:30 a.m. on the Princeton Country Day School field. There is no requirement of "Y" membership or fee to play and regular attendance is not necessary.

Instruction is provided to teach boys 7 to 11 the basic skills of hitting, fielding, throwing and sliding. This second group meets on the Princeton Country Day field at 10 a.m. on Tuesdays. All boys are welcome.

The Adult Art Club is under the supervision of M. C. Constance Bonotto. The group has recently been outdoors to paint landscapes in the Princeton area. Another activity offered by the "Y" is the Teen-Age Recreation Club for young people of high school age. Meetings are held Monday and Wednesday evenings at 7:30 p.m. The program includes swimming parties and bowling. Continued on Page 14

AN AGE-OLD QUESTION is answered at the Princeton Shopping Center by Miss Barbara Stromberg (left), a visitor from Sweden who feels that only when the acquaintance has been a long one and the gift small is it proper for a government official to accept the present of a businessman. While congressional investigations of the Adams-Goldfine case entered their third straight week, nine other Princeton shoppers offered views on this subject—which also perplexed Thomas Jefferson nearly 200 years ago (see box). At right is Mrs. Harriet Nicol, Town Topics' inquiring reporter.

Question of the Week

Question: Where do you think government officials should draw the line in accepting favors from business men? (Suggested by Thomas W. Egan, 16 Gulick Road, assistant in Princeton University admissions office.)

Location: Nassau Street and Shopping Center.

Mrs. Edwin P. Kennedy, Yardley, Pa., housewife, and Mrs. Mary Scannella, Trenton, housewife: Government officials should accept absolutely no favors at all from businessmen!

Miss Nancy Heath, RD 2, Flemington, clerk at A & P: I think business men shouldn't have to give government officials anything material for special privileges. Ideally, they should get what they want simply by being friendly and polite—and actually gain more without resorting to gifts of Oriental rugs and the like.

Donna Seibel, 19 Palmer Road, Franklin Park, member of Educational Testing Service's evaluation and advisory service: I heard once about a senator who accepted nothing valued at more than $10. This is the type of thing that should be demanded of people in responsible positions.

Miss Leigh Buchanan, 21 Dogwood Lane, Cornell University junior: Government officials should draw the line where accepting gifts will put them in a compromising position, or where in the public eye such favors can be interpreted as bribes, whether or not they really are. As a rule, government employees should not accept gifts from business organizations or individuals to whom they could conceivably be helpful by virtue of their public office.

Miss Barbara Stromberg, 54-A College Road, student from Sweden: Small presents are all right when the government official and the businessman have known each other for a long time and their families are friends. Gifts of a purely financial nature should not be accepted, however.

Mrs. Bartlett Bailey, Burnt Hill Road, housewife: I think government officials should not accept any gifts at all. They can get into an awful lot of trouble. How else could you draw the line? It's hard to find a place.

Mrs. Maurice Artzt, 51 Hawthorne Avenue, housewife: Public officials should not accept gifts except from really personal

Jefferson's Line

Thomas Jefferson, principal author of the Declaration of Independence, drew the line at accepting gifts from businessmen at "presents of no pecuniary value." While serving as this country's third president he made this "an inviolable rule."

In refusing an elegant set of china presented by Madame Rebelt, wife of a Baltimore book dealer, Jefferson wrote: "I feel all the gratitude which I could possibly feel did the laws of my situation permit me to accept the too valuable offer. But it is a law, sacred to me while in a public character, to receive nothing which bears a pecuniary value. This is necessary to the confidence of my country, it is necessary as an example for its benefit and necessary to the tranquillity of my own mind."

The President assured Madame Rebelt of her kindness but emphasized she would be "the last to furnish the enemies of my happiness with a topic so capable of being misconstrued." The letter is one of 60,000 Jefferson documents being compiled into a 50-volume collection by Dr. Julian P. Boyd, Professor of history at Princeton University.

friends. If they do, they can put themselves in really tight spots. Even from friends, they should be on their guard in receiving presents.

Laurence D. Healy, 47 Alken Avenue, proprietor of Durner's Barber Shop: Personally, I don't see why anyone in this line of life should consider accepting gifts of any kind. I don't think this is the right way to serve our country. A person who can't say yes or no is weak-minded or has not made up his mind. If you are in government service, you should have made up your mind. Assistant to the President Sherman Adams has no business standing in office. This affair has been great propaganda for those who want to make our country look like a bunch of grafters.

Arthur Cowan, the Bronx, administrative assistant for the City of New York: Government officials should draw the line at liquor or at Christmas-time. As for Sherman Adams, he should keep up to his own ethics of honesty and purity.

IT TAKES FAITH IN THE FUTURE to plant a seed when the harvest can't be reaped for ten years. Growing trees from seed is a decade-long job, and it's even longer when nurserymen set out to develop their own trees. At Princeton Nurseries, some trees grow from seed and some are painstakingly developed by the nursery's botanists. Here is a stand of Princeton "Shademaster" Thornless Honeylocust, pride of the nursery. The tree was developed by William Flemer III, whose brother John is shown in the foreground. THE TREES GROW IN ROWS

Princeton Nurseries' Wauiland. Anyone who sees an industrial plant which covers 1500 acres knows that it represents a business of considerable size and scope. Princeton residents and their neighbors, drive past just such a "plant" many times a year without even realizing it is there and certainly without knowing that it is the fourth largest enterprise of its kind in the entire United States.

Princeton Nurseries straddles Route One just south of the State Police station. The company owns 1260 acres and operates 1500 more in South Brunswick, West Windsor and Plainsboro Townships. It's the largest wholesale nursery in the entire northeastern region, Mayfield through New England and west to Pittsburgh. Inasmuch as it's the fourth largest in the country, it is quite probably the fourth largest in the world. Since not many other countries have large-scale nurseries.

A Family Affair. Princeton Nurseries is a family affair. The first land was bought in 1913 by William Flemer, Sr. whose son, William Jr., joined the company in 1919. William Flemer III now adds a third dimension of experience to the organization.

The Flemer's business is wholly wholesale, wholly concerned with woody plants (no greenhouses, no petunias). About 60% of the shipments go to retail nurseries. The rest go to park departments of various municipalities, New York City and Washington, D. C. For example, and to highway departments of almost every eastern state. The nursery is equipped to advise on shrubs that will block out midnight glare, trees that grow in city grime and trees that will not tangle with power lines.

On their 1500 acres, the Flemers and their 120 employees grow 600 varieties of plants hardy to the region. Shade trees are the specialty, but broadleaf and conifer evergreens and shrubs join them to be shipped by the thousands from the giant storage cellars that form the hub of Princeton's operations.

Everything that is raised at the Nurseries is started there. Giant oaks that will shade the year 2040, begin as acorns planted in long and regular rows. Maples are started from seeds as though they were zinnias. Rooted evergreen cuttings from the greenhouse are set out like rows of little Christmas trees.

Oaks Ready in Ten Years. Ten years from the final limping of the soil around the seed, the oaks and maples will be ready for someone's yard. Five years earlier, the evergreens are ready. Unless there is a disastrous drought, last summer's dryness swept whole fields clean

"It's Our Tree"

Of all the varieties of shade trees it sells, Princeton Nurseries is proudest of its own "Shademaster," Princeton Upright Thornless Honeylocust, developed over a period of about ten years by William Flemer III.

Mr. Flemer has had a patent on his tree since 1956 and he regards it, with modest pride, as the prime shade tree of the future.

"Shademaster," according to Mr. Flemer, fills the hole made by the sad decline of the American elm, victim of Dutch elm disease. Mr. Flemer's tree is like an elm in shape, provides light shade that grass can grow in, grows tall, is very hardy and, unlike its ancestral locust, so sturdy that it does not have to be skied when young.

Princeton licenses other nurseries to sell its trees and last season it had more orders for "Shademaster" than it could fill. Only a month ago, the Nurseries were granted another patent, this one for a new Norway maple immune to leaf-hopper insects. In the works are new varieties of Linden, sugar maples and Sophora.

of seedlings in spite of irrigation) Princeton's seedling loss is negligible. It has to be, because each two-inch seedling is an investment.

The fields of growing trees look rather like vegetable gardens, until the passer-by looks more closely and discovers that the two-inch plants are not tomatoes, but maple seedlings precisely like the ones that a home gardener pulls out of his flower bed and throws away. The red Japanese maples are so small they might be snapdragons, just coming up.

But farther along, because this is a nursery where plants grow and are carefully nurtured, the seedlings become whips and the whips become young trees and soon there are blades of locusts or Norway maples that were seeds in the ground two years before the Korean War.

A Growing Business. In a business as large as this, there is no casual reliance on a green thumb. Success begins with a prime element: the soil. The 40-acre nucleic farm was a plot of priceless sassafras loam, a slightly acid soil that holds moisture but allows drainage. Subsequent purchases of land have enlarged this heart until the Nurseries now have about 500 acres of what nurserymen consider the best tree-growing soil there is.

Nurseries crops take from the soil but give little in return so Princeton practices crop rotation, alternating crops every year or two with sequoias and Sassafras.

grass or oaks and clover. An eight-inch pipeline from the canal runs under Route One so that land on each side of the highway can be irrigated with canal water.

In the fall, workers dig up trees and shrubs that will be sold that fall and the following spring. Those that go in the spring are wintered over in three immense concrete and cinder-block barns, three stories high, that are called "cellars."

Here it is always February. By means of refrigeration and insulation, nurserymen keep the humidity high and the temperature low, a constant 33 degrees. The bare-rooted plants stay healthy in this moist, cool "earth" until April shipping time comes around.

In November and April, peak shipping months, the plants are peeled, loaded and processed by mechanization that saves both men and time. In midsummer, the empty cooling barns, cooled only by their own loftiness, still hold the smell of earth and roots, an

Report from THE MAYOR

A Warm Welcome. Princeton gave a warm welcome over the weekend to 75 exchange students from foreign lands who have completed a year of study in this country. The youngsters, participating in the American Field Service International Scholarship Program, visited Governor and Mrs. Meyner at Morven on Sunday, with Borough and Township Mayors on hand.

The Governor commented that Buster, the Norwegian elk hound, is usually "not very sociable" but "seemed to sense that these were Norwegians in the group and was especially friendly."

It was fun to talk to these students and especially to have the chance to describe the Brussels Fair to Miss Jacobina Dresschuijs who lives "right across the street from it" but who has been visiting in America since the buildings were under construction for the giant exposition.

Pedestrian Safety. The Mayor and other members of the Safety Committee met last week with Frank Seiboth, Senior Engineer of the Bureau of Planning and Traffic, himself a Princeton resident. A lengthy discussion of state highway apartment objections to "Walks" and "Wait" signals on Nassau Street intersections was the main agenda item. Naturally, the highway department's first concern is the freest possible traffic flow for motor vehicles. Borough officials, however, feel that the fellow on foot should be given "a fighting chance."

Our drivers are also pedestrians for a significant part of their day, and we question whether a four-second delay constitutes a valid objection to a scheme for the greater convenience and safety of those who walk across the busiest corners, where cars and trucks are turning into crosswalks at all times. Agreement was reached that the Borough could resubmit its request, with an eye to possible acceptance of the Harrison St.-Nassau intersection as a final installation.

On a Trial Basis. Highway officials have also agreed to a thorough experiment with one rather than two southbound lanes at Bayard Lane near Nassau St. The Borough will be responsible for the placement of traffic cones in the second lane to check on the traffic flow. If no unreasonable delays develop, we may be able to obtain authorization for a more permanent arrangement.

Parking. Last week's meeting of Mayor and Council produced a helpful discussion of a number of possible moves toward solution of the ever-present parking problems. Among this week's meet-

GEOLOGICAL EXPLORATIONS

Cave Man to Force at Gravity. Some 50 Princeton University geologists ranging from faculty specialists to undergraduates, are this summer engaged in research projects in such widely separated areas as the Caribbean Islands, Western Canada, and the United States and Europe. Their projects encompass virtually every field of geology and paleontology from investigation of the force of gravity to the study of cave man.

The largest concentrations of Princeton geologists in the weeks ahead will be in the Caribbean area and in the states of Montana and Wyoming. Long range research efforts there are aimed at filling gaps in the geologic history of the past 100 million years.

Fifteen undergraduates under the leadership of Professors John C. Maxwell and William F. Bonini of the Department of Geological Engineering are undergoing six weeks of intensive field training at Red Lodge, Mont. Professor Bonini, who in recent years has traveled more than 200,000 miles and visited nearly 100 nations in gathering exact measurements of the force of gravity, will also complete the three-year project concerned with determining gravity anomalies that reflect subsurface mass distribution on the earth's crust.

For the second successive summer, Dr. S. Sheldon Judson, Jr., a specialist in pre-historic man, is in the Dordogne region of Southwestern France. He is reconstructing old Stone Age cultures in conjunction with other American and European archaeologists and paleontologists.

Volcanoes and Earthquakes. Dr. Harry H. Hess, chairman of the department, will coordinate the programs of 10 men in continuing for the 13th successive summer studies of mountain formation and development. The internationally known mineralogist will work along the north coast of South America and in the Caribbean Islands. His group will consider the relation of earthquakes and volcanic eruptions to the mountain-making process.

Richard H. Furman, 201 Prospect Avenue, a Princeton University senior, together with a graduate student will be based on Puerto Rico. They will study island arcs and their role in Alpine mountain building.

"THE OLD CORNER HOUSE": That's how everyone in town referred to Farr's Hardware before the store moved in 1912 to its present location at 138 Nassau Street. This old print from the studio of Royal Rose, one of Princeton's earliest photographers, shows Farr's as it looked around 1907. The old shop was located in a brick pre-Revolutionary building at the fork of Stockton and Mercer Streets. The triangular plot, where the first Princeton hardware was established in 1744, is now the site of the World War I Memorial. Parked in front of the store is a two-cylinder International Harvester truck, which according to Harry A. Farr 2d, present owner of the store, was the first motorized delivery wagon in town. Among items sold by Mr. Farr's father, Harry 1st, Farr, was a wide diversity of goods ranging from china and glassware to Ford Motor Cars (see sign above). Two men at extreme right are standing near the public weighing station, where wagonloads of coal or hay were measured.

BUSINESS In Princeton

CHANGING NASSAU SKYLINE

Farr's Undergoes Renovation
In booming communities around the U.S., there has been a marked tendency to tear down outmoded nineteenth century frame structures in the middle of the business district and to replace them with multi-story buildings in complete defiance of last "sky-scraper" logic. The Farr Hardware Center at 138 Nassau Street is being reduced in height from four stories to two.

Not that any backwash is involved in this transformation. The Farr Hardware Company, a business that since 1886 has been associated with the Farr family, is undergoing its first major physical renovation since the store moved to its present location in 1912. When workmen are finished next October, the store will feature a 24-foot display window adaptable to the latest merchandising techniques as well as specially-designed storage space on the second floor.

Before the first World War, the shop had been located in a triangular three-story building at the fork of Stockton and Mercer Streets. In fact, Farr's was the direct lineal successor of a hardware business established on that very spot 140 years ago by the Revolutionary War.

The latest transformation along the Princeton skyline of a wooden frame structure into a firm two-story brick building, modeled in the pattern of "Operation Nassau" does not seem surprising in light of the hardware's long history. It is only natural that one of this town's oldest stores should be among those to re-assume a Colonial facade.

Store Dates to Colonial Days. An English homemaker who came to this community in 1714 established the first hardware store in Princeton at least according to the verbal record passed on among the various families that have owned the hardware business there. As Harry A. Farr 2d, present owner of the store, heard from his father, "Only in those days, the hardware business was known as 'homemaking,'" Mr. Farr recalled.

The English colonist built his shop at Stockton and Mercer Streets and the ironmongery remained in the hands of his family until 1801. It then passed into the hands of Philip Hendrickson. The hardy settler stayed in this line until after the Civil War when it was

The Good "Now" Days

One of the major advantages that the Farr Hardware Store will gain from extensive demolitions now under way will be the addition of a 24-foot long display window. Architects' plans for the two-story brick building also call for four double-bung colonial windows for the second floor. The new store front will have two doors, one for Farr's and one for the Princeton Recreation Center, whose long entrance corridor flanks the hardware store's west side.

Comparing the plans for the new store front with this picture of "the old corner store," Harry A. Farr, 2nd, now 60, looks confidently toward the future. "This is only mother change in the Princeton skyline," he declared. "I've never believed in the good old days. I like the new much better."

purchased by a Colonel William C. Vandewater who had returned from the battlefields.

In 1886, Harry H. Farr, the present proprietor's father, went into partnership with Colonel Vandewater. On the latter's death in 1891, he assumed full ownership. As workmen last week began the extensive re-construction work, Mr. Farr thought back to the days of his boyhood when Farr's Hardware was known to all about town as the "old corner store." One of the most vivid pictures in his mind was the two-cylinder International Harvester Delivery truck that was often parked in front of the building.

China, and Ford Motor Cars. "Father got the first auto delivery truck to town, I was 8 then. It was quite a curiosity at first and everybody came up to look at it. But it can't run and did the job."

"We used to have a horse and a closed delivery wagon with a painted body," Mr. Farr continued. "And before we had that, father could remember transporting many a keg of nails by wheelbarrow all the way to the Harrison Street area."

Much progress in the means of transportation as the years went by, Mr. Farr remembered the big broad wooden signs that hung above the hardware door. Alongside of china and glass, the store dealt in such wares as Syracuse plows and Ford Motor Cars.

Father was the first Ford dealer in town," Mr. Farr recalled. "From 1906 to 1909, you did not need to have a service garage in order to sell cars; Father used to sell them right in the store alongside with everything else." The automobiles were stored across the street in the hardware's warehouse which is now the location of Frank E. South's Garage.

Once a Bearing House. In 1912, the Farr Hardware was obliged to move to its present location on Nassau Street. The Princeton Battle Monument Association had purchased the three-story, pre-Revolutionary hardware shop as a possible site for the monument that was eventually built on the other side of Stockton Street. The building was later torn down to make way for the present World War I memorial bench.

Farr's was one of the first Princeton business establishments to move east of Tulane Street. Prior to World War I this section of Nassau Street was almost exclusively reserved for private homes.

Mr. Farr's father leased the ground floor in what was then one of the many student boarding houses in town. It was around this era that the university expanded its dormitory facilities and instituted student dining halls. The upper three stories of what is now the Farr hardware building housed undergraduate roomers, while the ground floor served as an eating club before new facilities were built on Prospect Street.

When he purchased the building at 138 Nassau Street in 1948, Mr. Farr found the former students' rooms not specially adaptable to the use of a hardware store. "For some time I have been considering the present changes," he declared, and added: "Nassau Street is gradually changing its face. I have always been ashamed of this building just across from Princeton University and will be able to feel better now."

As predicted in TOWN TOPICS' final May issue, Princeton businesses and businessmen have been up to their annual game of "musical chairs" during the summer of 1958. This week, the game continued at a lively pace.

With Opinion Research Corporation moving to its sparkling new headquarters in the first building of Princeton Research Park, the firm's close associate, Gallup & Robinson, has consolidated its research operations at 44 Nassau Street, former home of ORC. G&R will continue to run part of its business from the second floor at Bank Street, but has relinquished the entire downstairs area to Bell Telephone.

G&R's consolidation, this past week removed it from the upper reaches of 32 Nassau, part of which Princeton Municipal Improvement Inc. now has available for rent. Several offices at Nassau, to be occupied about September 1, have been leased by Associate William Miller, currently in FMI quarters at 33 Palmer Square West, and A.R. Braveman Co., accountant, now located at 188 Nassau.

FMI space at 23 Palmer Square West, having received attention from Princeton carpenters, reportedly will become the offices of another law firm by late summer.

The top three stories of the edifice are being leveled. Steel girders will support a new second floor that will be designed to the express storage needs of a hardware business. Kenneth Kassler Associates have provided plans for the renovations that have been approved by Operation Nassau. The work is being done by the Tower Construction Company.

The Practical Value of Buying where You Live

For instance . . . meditate for a minute on what a comfort it is to have people around you. Particularly people like doctors, plumbers, druggists, firemen, preachers, mechanics, taxpayers, and the like.

These all come with towns. Towns come with business. Your business. Every nickel you spend in some other town helps to send some of these handy people away from here.

Maybe it even helps to eliminate YOUR job. Certainly it decreases the profits on whatever business you are in, and reduces the value of any property you may own in this area.

We're social critters, and depend on each other for many things. But when you scratch somebody else's back, be sure he stands where he can scratch yours in turn.

FOOTBALL OUTLOOK-I

(This is the first of a series of four articles on Princeton's football prospects for the 1958 season.)

Pre-Season Preview. Baseball and tennis continue to dominate the Princeton scene, while at the national level another sizzling season National League race will fill the sports pages for two more months. But in the town which looks forward to defense of the Ivy title during the fall season, football is a topic of conversation long before the players and coaches begin to make news with the first practice session at Blairtown.

There are other signs, too, that the season which draws thousands to Blair Stadium is not many weeks away. Football applications are on the press and will be in the mail around August 1. And on the scene will be the national magazines which seek to predict the outcome of virtually every major college game, name each conference champion and proclaim probable all-American selections all long before the first whistle blows.

On the fifth floor of the tower in Dillon Gymnasium, Dick Colman and his assistants have been working since last winter on plans to field another winning team—studying films of the varsity and freshman games, making tentative position switches and selecting some 60 players who will begin pre-season drills on Labor Day. And the desks, of sports editors, comprehensive brochures on various colleges' prospects are beginning to trickle. What has Princeton to say?

Positions Open. The first look has to be at the gaps left by graduation. For the second year in a row, a Princeton team that has to field another winning team—studying films of the varsity and freshman games, making tentative position switches and selecting some 60 players who will begin pre-season drills on Labor Day. And the desks, of sports editors, comprehensive brochures on various colleges' prospects are beginning to trickle. What has Princeton to say?

Four of the seven linemen who started the climactic games against Harvard, Yale and Dartmouth have departed, while every member in the single-line backfield save number three (fullback) was held by members of the Class of 1958. The lone returning member of last year's regular quartet is Captain Fred Tiley.

WHY THE GAP IS BIG: Bob Casciola, 215-lb. selection as an all-Ivy tackle last year, is one of 13 lettermen whom the Princeton coaching staff must replace for the 1958 season. A three-year letterman, Casciola will return to serve as an assistant freshman coach.

Of 27 who received letters on last year's Ivy champions, 14 will return. The departing 13, however, have left gaps that will cause problems of varying degrees, with only two positions—end and tailback—approximating anything in the way of satisfactory depth. Particular attention must be given to developing adequate replacements at center, guard, tackle and quarterback.

Of the two rebuilding jobs to be done—line and backfield—the former figures to be somewhat the harder of the two because reserve and sophomore strength is greater among the ball carriers. As the season wears on, the Tigers should again have the kind of team that scored 47 points against Cornell, 28 against Harvard and 34 against Dartmouth. Hopes are, on the other hand, that it will be better defensively than the outfit which yielded 29 apiece to Harvard and Yale—the latter coupling the Big Three title and requiring a victory over Dartmouth to nail down the Ivy championship.

Lettermen Lost. By positions, the players who completed their Princeton careers that snowy afternoon last November include only one end, three tackles, two guards, one center and six backs. By categories, the latter consist of one quarterback, one tailback, two wingbacks and two fullbacks. These are the losses:

End—Jim Valuska is the sole departing letterman from this position, a situation duplicated only once every five or six years. The 6-3 200-pounder from Mingo Junction, O., was good enough to be a three-year letterman, and good enough as a senior to hold a starting berth over Ed Kosciolnik, an unusually promising sophomore.

Tackles—Bob Casciola, Lou Brinsmade, Julie McCaull, three big guys who weighed from 210 to 215 apiece. Casciola, who won his letter as a sophomore, was the most valuable of the three, earning an all-Ivy berth as a senior and seeing a great deal of action. McCaull was a replacement on the same side of the line, leaving only one 1957 reserve there with any degree of experience. Brinsmade, a durable lineman whose varsity career included action as both tackle and guard, was a two-year letterman who had the ability to turn in a good performance against Dartmouth as a starter when Gene Forcione was benched with an injury.

Guards—Art Benis and Dave Grubb, the pair of veterans who held down both starting positions last season. A three-year letterman, Grubb received honorable mention for All-Ivy, All-East and All-American teams. Both he and Benis were extremely dependable players whose presence in the middle of the line meant much to the Tigers, particularly on offense.

Center—Paul Nystrom. As a senior, he could not hold his job against the extremely able sophomore, Frank Svetec, but his presence as the immediate replacement over the ball will be missed. Nystrom was also used at various times on both kickoffs and punts after touchdown, adding depth to the Tigers' offense in this respect.

Backs—When the Class of 1958 entered college, only Jack Saporich was expected to contribute much as a back to Princeton football. From his very first game, he lived up to expectations beautifully, winning a starting berth immediately and eventually ranking with the top blocking backs and linebacks in Princeton football. —Continued on Page 20

New Golf Course To Open

Colting enthusiasts in this area may want to circle July 27 in their memo books. This has been set as the opening date of Mountain View Golf Club, Mercer County's new public course on Bear Tavern Road near West Trenton.

It is an 18-hole, 71-par course, 6,705 yards in length and laid out over an area of 185 acres. Tees average 100 feet long and range in width from 30 to 50 feet.

The course will be open to the general public on a pay-as-you-go basis. Daily greens fees will be $1.50 on weekdays and $2.50 on weekends and holidays.

Lockers, including towel and soap will be 35 cents a day, and golf carts will be rented for 50 cents. Lawrences "Skip" Ferrara of Princeton will be the professional.

Story, having been the Tigers' field general for three seasons, he will be extremely hard to replace.

As sophomores, flute was heard of Tom Morris, Hewes Agnew and Jim Motley. Morris showed flashes of promise that season, winning the Penn game with the afternoon's only touchdown, but Agnew was mostly on the bench and Motley was with Dick Vaughan's 150-lb. team.

Agnew came along so fast as a junior that when he took over at fullback after Fred Tiley broke his collarbone he finished the season as top scorer in the Ivy League. As a senior, he was frequently hobbled with an ankle injury.

Motley moved up to the varsity as a junior, played as both a tailback and wingback and last year position over a big, capable got the coaches' nod at the latter sophomore. Mike Ippolito. With Tiley, Sapoch, Motley and Morris were the starting backfield on the Ivy champions—and the latter three are gone.

Missing, too, will be wingback Bob Fryer, used on occasion at wingback, and Grant Patton, a converted center who was Tiley's immediate replacement when Agnew could not play. Over all, the attention among the hall corridors is greater than the Tigers have known in the past five or six years.

In addition to Sapoch's all-around brilliance this versatility helped him as the top pass receiver on the team last year with 11. Morris and Motley were solid triple threats. They ranked one-two in passing, both completing better than 50 percent of their attempts, and Morris was the team's best punter.

Of the 13 lettermen who will not be available, the four hardest to replace will be Casciola, Grubb, Sapoch and Morris. Next week's article will take a look at the material coming to the varsity from the Class of 1961, whose record of four victories and a tie ranked it as the only unbeaten Ivy freshman eleven.

SWIMMING COACH NAMED

Olympic Diving Champion, The assistant swimming coach at Dartmouth has been named head coach in the sport at Princeton, effective this fall. He is Robert L. Clotworthy, 27, who won the Olympic 100-meter diving championship at Melbourne in 1956.

The latest addition to the Princeton coaching staff has been an assistant swimming coach at the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, while in service and, for the past year, at Dartmouth. A native of Newark, he was raised in Westfield, N.J., graduated from Ohio State and in 1953 was co-captain of the Buckeyes' swimming team.

Clotworthy succeeds Howie Canonne, who replaced Howie Step in 1953 on the latter's completion of 25 years as Princeton swimming coach. Canonne announced his resignation last spring to accept a position as assistant to the headmaster and chairman of the Department of English at the Eaglebrook School, Deerfield, Mass.

"Big Type" Picnic

Unitarians and their friends (adults and teenagers) will gather this Sunday at 6 p.m. at Warquand Park for the kind of picnic that members of the church refer to as a "Big Type" picnic.

This is the kind where food and drink are provided, as opposed to a "Big Type" picnic, which means that you bring your own, and a "Big Type" picnic, which means the church provides the food.

In the case of this Sunday's "Big Type" picnic, Unitarians have decided to provide the food, and each family is to bring a meat dish or salad for 10 people. Single people who wish to find it difficult to cook for 10 are asked to call Mrs. Robert P. Von Verdo, chairman of the outing at WA 4-5378.

Following the supper, Richard C. Mason, vice-president of the congregation, will present proposed changes to the church's bylaws.

Author Teenager Comments

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:
I am most perturbed over many people's reactions regarding writing to and from Princeton High School. A 1956 graduate, I unfortunately did not become a legal driving age until after I had left high school, however, I certainly have had taken advantage of the privilege (I? with the hearty consent of my parents if I had had a license).

If I chose to stay after school for any extra-curricular activity, it was necessary for me to take a public bus and then walk the remaining mile home. Certainly the walk did me no harm, but in winter's twilight hours, a mile-long road past withered corn fields and wooded stretches can be most unpleasant walk.

I am sure that many of these dissenters, who were no doubt "teen-agers" of several decades ago, do not walk "four miles a day" as Mrs. Barber says students not too many years ago did, to come to do their shopping. Princeton's parking problem would not be so acute if many of these people who balk at "teen-agers" driving would instead own cars in the garage and walk the mile or two to the shopping district. Surely they would benefit by the exercise as much as any "teen-ager" would!

Actually, I think forbidding driving to the school would solve nothing, and would doubtlessly create new problems. This is not where or when accidents occur, and since many people think rules are made only to be broken, ways of "sidling" cars soon would be discovered.

Let us realize we are doing much things differently than they were done 20 or 30 years ago, and that the automobile is a convenience and a luxury which, as such as part of today's way of life as a washing machine or a vacuum cleaner. If you don't want "teen-agers" to drive, either cars must be eliminated, the minimum driving age raised, or parents must be firmer with their own children and set up tighter regulations regarding the use of the family car or the purchase of a "teen-agers' own car."

Obituaries

Mrs. Sarah S. Boice, 81, of 59 North Greenwood Avenue, Hopewell, died July 11 after a long illness. Widow of Harvey Boice, she had been a resident of Hopewell virtually all her life.

Her survivors include a daughter, Miss Ethel Boice of Hopewell, a son, Daniel R. of Trenton, and Mrs. Joseph H. Hill of Hopewell.

The service was held at a Hopewell funeral home, with the Rev. John H. Ginter, pastor of the Hopewell Presbyterian Church of Hopewell, officiating. Burial was in Old School Baptist Churchyard.

Mrs. Olivia Steiger Carnochan, for many years a resident of Princeton, died July 11 at the home of her daughter in Greenwich, Conn. She was the widow of Dr. John M. Carnochan, who had been a family physician to many Princetonians before his death some 30 years ago.

Born in Staten Island, N. Y., Mrs. Carnochan came to Princeton at the age of 13. Married in 1907, she and her husband lived in "Bainbridge House," now the Public Library. She moved shortly thereafter to 34 Mercer Street. Before leaving Princeton, she had lived in Stanwix.

Mrs. Carnochan was a member of the Presbytarian Club, holding membership in it for 50 years. She was also a former president of the Altar Guild of Trinity Episcopal Church.

In addition to her daughter, Mrs. Cathleen C. Farr of Greenwich, she is survived by a son, John R. of Portland, Me.; three grandchildren and a nephew, Edwin A. Steiger, who was raised in her home before moving to California.

The funeral was held at Trinity Church, with the Rev. George C. Newberry officiating. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery, under direction of The Steiger Funeral Home.

Fred D. Grady, who lived at 145 Witherspoon Street for a number of years, died July 11 in Waynesboro, Ga., after a long illness. He first made his home here in 1959, leaving for the South three years ago.

Mrs. Grady operated a produce, poultry and hog raising business. He was a member of Witherspoon Elks Lodge No. 175; Past Exalted Rulers Council No. 20; and the Order of Moose.

A son, Willie Grady of Princeton, and an uncle in Waynesboro are his nearest survivors. The funeral and interment were in Georgia.

Mrs. Elizabeth S. Mather, 73, wife of H. Herbert Mather, died July 9 at her home in Dutch Neck. She was a native of Dayton.

Other survivors include two daughters, Mrs. William Reed of Rocky Hill and Mrs. William E. Fick, Jr. of Dutch Neck. She was held at The Mather Funeral Home, with the Rev. Dr. Orion C. Hopper, a member of the Theological Seminary faculty, officiating. Burial was in Dutch Neck Cemetery.

"The great day will be when we move in"...

This was the comment of one of our home-buyers, pleased with everything he saw at Shady Brook Estates in Princeton. It is a feeling shared by more and more people as word about this carefully-planned community and its 8 room, 3 bath individually-designed residences is passed on to discerning homeowners.

BUILT ON ¾ ACRE GROUNDS OR LARGER,
HERE IS A GLIMPSE OF THE LAYOUT AND FEATURES:

GROUND LEVEL: Gracious foyer with guest closet. 20 ft. finished recreation room with fireplace opening on patio in rear — a study or den (or bedroom if you choose) and full bath. Patio with barbecue.

FIRST FLOOR LEVEL: 24 ft. living room with bay window. Full dining room with archedway. Spacious attractive up-to-the-minute kitchen with built-in wall oven, counter-top range, dishwasher and Formica top cabinets.

The surroundings, overlooking Lake Carnegie, reflect the finest values in present-day living. Privacy, dignity, quiet, elegance without ostentation. And the homes are set into this lovely background with an unerring eye for handsome contrasts and appearance.

SECOND LEVEL: Huge master bedroom with walk-in closet. Two other twin-sized bedrooms and 2 complete baths.

A QUALITY RANCH
reduced for quick sale to $30,000.

Stone, paneling, brick and flagstone, tastefully used in this attractive ranch, combine for a feeling of quality and an atmosphere of charm. The stone is on the exterior and in the free-standing fireplace which divides the large living room from the dining room (both are paneled). The flagstone floor is a nice covered porch on the front; the brick, a pretty terrace at the back. The two bedrooms are big and airy; the kitchen and bath, modern and efficient. The lot, full of greenery and pleasantly private, does not require much care, and the location, on one of Princeton's most desirable streets, is excellent. All in all, a delightful house for a couple with a taste for the unusual.

YOUNG MALE WANTS hard brassy overcoat, suit, job for all summer, he means hard (lives) but hard, (to make 20 words) hard, hard, for me, Arthur, WA 1-6497.

ELIZABETH JAMES Says:

BUCKS COUNTY BEAUTIFUL COUNTRY ESTATE

located on hillside overlooking Delaware Valley. There are thirty completely protected acres, beautiful lawns, shrubbery and old shade. The old stone main house — which is two original houses adjoined by a wing in the center — is breathtakingly beautiful.

There is a large living room with fireplace, den, complete bath, as well as entrance hall, dining room with walk-in fireplace, lovely modern kitchen on first floor. Four bedrooms, two baths on second floor.

The old red barn — also in perfect condition — has been remodeled to include an entrance — partially enclosed — facing the swimming pool and a large terrace — partially enclosed — facing the swimming pool and the view. If you had done the remodeling you couldn't have done better.

Excellent value for $65,000
